

A Collective Giving and Endowment Fund of Foundation For The Carolinas

2019 BASIC OPERATING GRANTS – APPLICATION GUIDE

For the period July 1, 2019 – June 30, 2020

For the 2019 grants cycle, the Charlotte Lesbian and Gay Fund (CLGF) will award grants to Charlotte-area organizations serving the gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender and queer (LGBTQ) community.

Basic Operating Grants are intended to build capacity and strengthen the effectiveness of 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations serving Charlotte’s LGBTQ community. Eligible organizations will provide at least 75% of their services and utilize at least 75% of their budget within the Charlotte-Mecklenburg area. Grants will be awarded to support general operations of organizations that fulfill the vision of CLGF:

“...to cultivate one community with the belief that all people should be treated with respect and dignity.”

This document is meant to be a guide for applicants as they complete the application process.

CLGF has limited discretionary funds. Therefore, many exemplary proposals cannot be funded. Because of the volume of requests, we cannot provide written feedback on all proposals that are not funded.

To conduct a fair and ethical grants program, a Conflict of Interest Policy is followed and requires that volunteers and/or staff of CLGF be excluded from the grant process for an organization with which they are affiliated. Please do not lobby Board or Grant Committee members on behalf of your organization.

For questions, contact Alexis Owens at Foundation For The Carolinas, aowens@fftc.org.

Before You Begin: Strategies for a Successful CLGF Application

How SHOULD YOU START?

Know your purpose: are you seeking unrestricted operating support, or funding to underwrite a program or project? Clarify your organization's priorities and/or the program's needs before doing anything else. In many cases, this will help you choose the correct application form to submit.

If there is a similar program or organization already in your region, please discuss the potential impact: does it represent an expansion or duplication of services in your area? If not, define how yours is different or better-suited for your community.

TIP

Share your passion, your organization's strengths and how you will make a difference through your work. Differentiate yourself from similar or competing organizations.

RESEARCH, RESEARCH, RESEARCH

Carefully review the application guidelines. Be certain that the purpose of your proposal fits within the CLGF scope and priorities.

It is important to tailor your request, particularly the goals and measurements, to the specific purpose of CLGF.

TIP

Do not simply cut and paste from an old proposal – pay close attention to your dates and details

ENSURE YOU SUBMIT A COMPLETE APPLICATION

The Foundation For The Carolinas provides applicants with a dashboard, so you can know ahead of time what components are necessary, and whether or not your application contains the appropriate materials.

Generally, applications require the following items:

- A. Basic information on your organization: Mission statement, legal name or DBA, Federal Tax ID number or fiscal sponsorship, address, contact info, etc.
- B. Budget dollars: For operating budgets, look at your total income and expenses for the year, making sure to provide for salaries and overhead whenever possible; for program/project budgets, enter as much information as possible to represent the costs of successfully completing the program or project. Show your organization's income sources – make a pie chart that shows how much income is derived from tickets sales, board contributions, member dues, individual donations, corporate sponsorships, foundation grants, etc.

TIP

Almost all funders want two years of both budgeted and actual dollars (not profit and loss statements, not bank statements)

- C. Narrative or needs statement: Knowing your organization's priorities or your programmatic needs before beginning will help clarify this section. Here you describe not only why your organization is requesting support from the funder, but also how and why it aligns with your funder's priorities.
- a. Be clear and succinct – your word count or your character count is limited.
 - b. Identify the problem to be addressed and the needs to be met by the project. What unique service(s) would the community be deprived of if you do not undertake this project? Provide supporting data whenever possible.
 - c. Describe your program objectives, activities, strategies, staffing, partners and timelines; explain how the design will enable you to address the problem or need. Identify the project as a new or continuing program.
 - d. Consider specifying your plans for continuing your progress at the termination of the grant, particularly if operating expenses are projected to increase. List other financing sources or strategies you are developing.
- D. Goals and metrics: What does your organization plan to do? Describe the goals and overall impact of the group or project/program. List objective measures that will determine the success of your mission or project/program. Minimize subjectivity wherever possible – emphasize how you will be able to gauge whether or not you succeeded.
- E. Attachments: Budgets, IRS 501(c)(3) determination letters, NC Solicitation License letters, Board of Director and/or staff list, letters of support from project partners (if applicable), etc.

Grant evaluation reports

- Each grant recipient is therefore required to submit an Evaluation Report, outlining the results and effectiveness of how the funds were spent. Not completing an evaluation on time may jeopardize future grant participation.
- Evaluation reports are also used for CLGF communications and may be used as input in future grant decisions for your organization. This “state of the organization” summary helps gauge the results that were achieved by providing the Operating funds.
