

Charlotte Mecklenburg Community Foundation awards $480,000 in grants to 33 local nonprofits for family stability and social capital programs

CHARLOTTE – The Charlotte Mecklenburg Community Foundation recently awarded $480,000 to 33 local nonprofits through two grant programs, Family Stability and Social Capital (see list below for grantees and awards). CMCF is a discretionary grantmaking arm of Foundation For The Carolinas.

Both grant programs align with the recommendations of the Leading on Opportunity report. Awards went to area nonprofits such as Renaissance West Community Initiative, Veterans Bridge Home, Refugee Support Services of the Carolinas and GardHouse.

"GardHouse will provide students of color interested in healthcare with paid internships that build professional acumen and social capital," said Jonathan Gardner, executive director of GardHouse, which received a $10,000 grant. "Learning how to navigate (the healthcare field) while healthcare professionals are in demand is essential for our students. Thanks to CMCF, students will reach past their expectations and connect with those that can unlock doors of continued success."

CMCF has awarded more than $55 million in grants since it was established in 1995 following a $35 million bequest from Lucille Puette Giles. Since the fund is an unrestricted endowment, it provides a permanent source of grantmaking for community needs as they evolve over time. In total, CMCF granted more than \$2 million to fund local programs in 2020.

"In a year as challenging as 2020, the importance of both social capital and family stability in pursuing economic opportunity is as clear now as ever," said Brian Collier, Executive Vice President at Foundation For The Carolinas in charge of civic leadership. "From providing virtual mentoring and coaching to improving housing stability to promoting issues of racial and social justice, our hope is the programs these grants support will have a meaningful impact on the community."
