

FFTC COMMUNITY IMPACT FUNDS

Community foundations – like Foundation For The Carolinas – were created by and for the people of a community, to ensure ongoing financial support for local needs over time. By supporting an FFTC Community Impact Fund now or with a planned gift, you can entrust FFTC to address evolving community needs and opportunities.

As the ancient philosopher Heraticlus famously said, “There is nothing permanent except change.”

This statement holds true when it comes to philanthropy and presents donors with a challenge: how can you ensure your charitable donations address the most important issues of today?

And how can you ensure future gifts stand the test of time as needs evolve, even after your lifetime?

By making an unrestricted gift to an FFTC Community Impact Fund, you can ensure permanent, strategic support for the causes you value, even as needs and nonprofits change over time.

Our Grantmaking Expertise

Since 1958, FFTC has served as a civic leader, catalyzing positive change in our region. We facilitate grantmaking programs throughout our 13-county region, while also responding to our region’s needs through various funds and partnerships.

Our internal grantmaking teams and volunteer leaders study our most critical issues, identify key opportunities and award grants to local nonprofits.

Below are just a few examples of how your community foundation responds to local needs.

Urgent Needs

When a local women’s shelter needed new bedding due to an insect infestation, FFTC provided an immediate grant and attracted other funders to quickly address the crisis.

Critical Issues

In 2019, FFTC invested $5 million to address our community’s affordable housing crisis, attracting an additional $270 million in grants, reduced lending, land donations and other support.

Transformational Opportunities

To preserve green space throughout the region, FFTC funded the initial study, convened leaders and raised additional funding to support the Carolina Thread Trail, resulting in plans for 1,500 miles of trails across 15 counties.

Together, We Can Maximize Investments and Outcomes

This work is entirely made possible by donors like you. You can provide critical, unrestricted support for changing community needs, and we will transform your targeted investment into philanthropic impact.
